Thru the Year at Mars Hill

To record a year spent in new experiences that brought a store of riches
to last through the years,
the Staff presents the 1942 LAUREL with the sincere desire that every student at a glance through its pages may remember familiar scenes and feel once again the friendly atmosphere of which he was an integral part.

... and then our attention is attracted by ... the handiwork of God and man ...

Next, we accustom ourselves to campus . . . and dormitory life.

A New Life Begins

In a few days I shall close forty-five years in the service of the College. These years have witnessed some victories and many defeats; some hills have been gained, but the heights are yet to be won. I salute the students and friends of Mars Hill with the warmest hopes and heartiest wishes of the years. The best is yet to be! It is yours to make it so!

DR. ROBERT LEE MOORE,
President-Emeritus.

The splendid philosophy expressed in one of the stanzas of Longfellow's "A Psalm of Life" should be of value to each one of you as you take up greater responsibilities:

"Not enjoyment and not sorrow,
Is our destined end or way;
But to act, that each tomorrow
Finds us farther than today."

Religious Activities

Christianity and Mars Hill are inseparable. The principle of "plain living and high thinking" has characterized the College from the time of its founding. "Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and . . . thy neighbor as thyself" is the prevailing attitude in worship and campus living.

This year we entered a war. Too often religion is the first casualty. Yet Mars Hill has set its purpose steadfastly to "render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's and unto God the things which are God's."

Fall Sports

While our shores were being threatened by enemies abroad, the Mars Hill Lions opened their athletic season. Undaunted by any foe, the men of Mars Hill gave their best on every occasion. The supporting spectators always witnessed magnificent demonstrations of sportsmanship and fair play.

True sons of their Alma Mater, the boys played their games cleanly and with no cause for regret. While meeting worthier opponents than in recent years, they may well look in these pages and reflect on battles well fought and victories well earned.

Societies

Society is more than its spacious halls of quiet beauty, more than its members, who are filled with loyal devotion. Society is a reigning spirit—not only at Mars Hill but wherever its sons and daughters have gone forth to face life.

Society includes work, pleasure, love, opportunity, and above all a deep fellowship among its members. Here great leaders are made. Here students express what they really feel. Society is a student activity conducted solely by the members.

Society increases the students' knowledge in the literary realm. It not only improves them mentally but enriches their lives socially.

Society is a power forever spreading with its sons and daughters—something that will live for all time.

NONPAREIL

Nonpareils make their way into the hall.

"Wright's my name." "We are glad to have you, Guthrie."

Once a Nonpareil, always a Nonpareil.

Months pass and before you know it—Anniversary! Joint meeting is called to order by the President, Carlton Jones.

Jim Hall brings the message for success.

"Is there a woman with the man in the moon?"

Say it with flowers, and the presidents lead the way.

The victory march is on as the presiding officers approach the desk.

Grand Finale—Anniversary!

One week later—Reception. Up the gangplank of the good ship Nonpareil.

Unmoved by tempest above, they stand and gaze upon this daughter of Neptune in her majestic beauty.

Then we move to the hall of Black and Gold for Riders of the Sea.

Here we catch a glimpse of the tragic life of the sea.

Once more by billows we are tossed down to the other hall where we see . . .

"Weda" and Berry approaching the hall of Blue and White.

They're ready and waiting for the 4 o'clock bell.

Old members collaborating before the newcomers arrive.

Riggsbee devotes his oratorical powers to the question of war.

Time marches on, and so do we. Anniversary is just around the corner, and joint meeting is here.

Noteworthy surprise—the Philomathian Orchestra.

Grand Finale!

Seven days more and Reception! We enter and find the manger scene with its theme of Peace on Earth.

Jack Lucke congratulates the Phi's on the occasion of their 51st Anniversary.

Night of nights—Anniversary! The one night that means so much. President Norman Caudle calls the meeting to order.

"Clio-Phi Standing Together."

Goforth goes chicken hearted.

Norman extends the challenge to Euthalian President.

This celestial messenger brings us glad tidings.

Under a star studied ceiling we drift to the other hall for presentation of The Bird's Christmas Carol.

We enter the hall of Blue and White and see The Blue Bird.

After the program, refreshments were served.

Soon it will only be a treasured memory.

Philomathian pow-wow on Friday night before the meeting begins.

Star Gazing.

Rice seriously approaches the subject of governmental politics.

Combs narrates at the Chio-Nonparel joint meeting.

Let thy name immortal remain through the years with Truth, Purity, and Fidelity. Chio-Phi shall forever reign.

Publications

While explosive bombs were being dropped on cities in Europe, Mars Hill was not neglected, as showers of flashes from candid-camera men descended upon peaceful scenes and gatherings. Most of the students were made aware of the fact that a college paper and yearbook were published on the campus. Cries of "Did you get that story?" or "Have you reserved a LAUREL?" were often heard across the campus.

The two publications have operated thus far under their own management in an effort to steer the printed words down a desirable, truthful, and beneficial channel. The complete satisfaction of any student body is an impossibility, but both publications have worked to appeal to those who belong in the category set apart from the seekers of sensationalism alone.

Effective co-operation is also an aim of education. To obtain a well-rounded personality, one must learn to work with others as well as to master textbooks. The development of such personalities is the underlying purpose of the various campus organizations.

Numerous opportunities are afforded to every student who uses them advantageously. He is thereby able to fit himself for a place of honor and service in the future years.

Winter And Spring Sports

Basketball reigned supreme during the winter months on the hardwood courts of McConnell Gym, and the Lions acquitted themselves nobly. Their moments in the spotlight have left bright pages on our book of memories, and when spring came they moved out into the sunlight of the baseball diamond. We never had cause to regret an afternoon spent where these boys engaged in the great American sport.

And don't forget those Spartans of the track with their Decathlon victories—and those tennis sharks who fought the opponents on the courts.

Friendship

And let the best be for your friend.
If he must know the ebb of your life,
let him know its flood also.

For what is your friend that you should seek him with hours to kill?
Seek him always with hours to live.
For it is his to fill your need, but not your emptiness.

And in the sweetness of friendship let there be laughter and sharing of pleasures.

For in the dew of little things the heart finds morning and is refreshed.

Classes

The year 1941-1942 at Mars Hill opened with two of the largest classes in the history of the college, the class of '43 being by far the largest. Never before has school begun with so many new faces, hair styles, and clothes. For the first month we looked like the cream of society; but then the newness wore off, and we let down our hair and became human. The harmony of the campus was soon interrupted, however, by the long arm of Uncle Sam, and the muscle-bound of the campus became conspicuous by their absence. The Army and Navy of our country are now strengthened by famous representatives from both classes. Those who are left press forward to the end of the year, all with sadness at leaving, though with joy at new accomplishments. Marching on to grasp what the future has in store for us, we look forward with a prayer for peace and good-will on earth, to the time when men will live as brothers and joy and happiness will reign again in the world.

OFFICERS

Class of '43

The Class of '43, with its 560 members, is the largest ever to invade this campus. Being a versatile group, these up-and-doing members soon adjusted themselves to college life. With grace and enthusiasm they have fitted easily into the pattern of activities here at the "Hill."

Ed Dancy failed to return the second semester, and Eddie Adelman became President. Bob Clodfelter was elected to fill the office of Vice-President.

The sponsors elected to work with them and their fellow classmates were Miss Mary Logan and Mr. Ralph A. Ashworth.

Senior '42

OFFICERS

Class of '42

Last year at the close of school we felt incapable and almost helpless. Why? Because we had the task of filling the vacancy left by the Seniors. Now, we are the Senior Class—the Class of '42—and we have done our best to live up to the challenge that has been ours. Picking up the threads of last year, we have woven them in with the new ones of this year to complete our design.

Howard College

For a Century Owned and Operated by the Alabama State Baptist Convention

HOWARD COLLEGE, a standard senior college, offers you the appeal of a strong and interesting Christian faculty, a curriculum varied and as modern as the latest defense projects, a splendidly democratic body of students, and a spirit of idealism and unaffected religion which are the only ultimate defense the world can have against the menace of complete materialism.

In addition to a full program of courses in the liberal arts and sciences, Howard offers sound pre-training in such professional fields as religious vocations, business, journalism, public school teaching, engineering, medicine, pharmacy, chemical warfare, public health and safety.

Go straight through in summer terms and regular sessions and complete all requirements for graduation in three years.

After the War . . .

America must have leaders with breadth and depth of culture if it is to make a wise peace and preserve for future generations the values that have made this country great.

For 109 years, Mercer has produced more than its proportionate share of leaders. In business, in the professions, and in all the branches of public life, Mercer men today ably fill important—in some instances key—positions. They have been shaped by the traditions and ideals which, with its emphasis upon liberal education, distinguish the institution.

Mercer's program has been adapted to the needs of the Federal Government in the present emergency. But Mercer continues to offer thorough preparation in the Humanities, the Social Sciences, and the Natural and Physical Sciences. A card to the Registrar will bring full information about curricula, dormitories, extra-curricular activities, and other matters about which the prospective student will want to know.
